MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Kansas City Missouri Police Department, in partnership with the community, is to protect life and property while reducing fear and disorder.

VISION STATEMENT

To make Kansas City and the metropolitan area the safest community in the nation as a result of the efforts of the Kansas City Missouri Police Department and its many partners.

ONE COMMUNITY / ONE VISION

CHIEF'S LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

Board of Police Commissioners,

It is my pleasure to present to you the 2011 Annual Report of the Kansas City Missouri Police Department.

I was humbled to be sworn in as the 44th chief of this department in 2011. My goals are to reduce crime and build community relationships. To that end, I updated the department's vision statement, which now says our vision is, "To make Kansas City and the metropolitan area the safest community in the nation as a result of the efforts of the Kansas City Missouri Police Department and its many partners." This reflects the commitment to fighting crime in the entire region and the importance of relationships with others.

"One Community / One Vision" has become our motto. We reached out to the public by holding community forums both to select the new police chief and to give other commanders and me input after I was in office. We saw the benefits of building these relationships as more citizens cooperated with police, giving us the information integral to solving crimes and making safer neighborhoods.

The KCPD made significant strides toward fighting crime in 2011, which you will see reflected in our crime statistics on page 31. These crimes have fallen for many years now and continued to do so in 2011. Overall crime fell 6.0 percent, with violent crime down 1.6 percent and property crime down 6.9 percent.

Technological accomplishments in 2011 will make it easier to continue this trend, including a new 911 center and radio system, a new criminal justice information system, and the implementation of e-ticketing and a new mobile DUI enforcement center.

While technology is vital, relationships are the core of our police work. KCPD provided mutual aid to a city more than 150 miles away after a devastating tornado. Our graduating Police Academy class spent 90 days on foot patrol to better connect with the citizens we serve and let those who commit crimes know their behavior will not be tolerated. I hope you find the 2011 Annual Report informative and enlightening.

Darryl Tate

/ BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS

According to Missouri Statute, the Board of Police Commissioners has the responsibility of providing police service to citizens of Kansas City, Mo.

- With the exception of a period from 1933 to 1939, the Police Department has been controlled by a board of Police Commissioners since its 1874 inception.
- Board members are appointed by the governor of Missouri and must be Kansas City residents.
- They serve four year terms.
- The fifth member of the Board is the Mayor of Kansas City, by virtue of elected office.
- The Secretary/Attorney is appointed by the Board.

Patrick McNerney
President

Patrick McNerney was appointed to the Board by Governor Jay Nixon in April 2009. He is a partner with the law firm Husch Blackwell Sanders LLP. He is a former Assistant Jackson County Prosecutor and also served as Assistant U.S. Attorney with the Organized Crime Strike Force, where he prosecuted organized crime and public corruption.

Alvin Brooks
Vice President

Alvin Brooks was appointed by Gov. Nixon in 2010. He was elected to the Kansas City Council in 1999 and 2003, during which time he served as Mayor Pro Tem and chaired numerous committees, including Public Safety. He served as assistant city manager of Kansas City from 1984 to 1991. He helped found Kansas City's Ad Hoc Group Against Crime and served as the organization's president from 1991 to 2000. He was a Kansas City Police Officer from 1954 to 1964.

Angela Wasson-Hunt
Treasurer

Angela Wasson-Hunt was appointed by Gov. Nixon in 2010. She previously served on the Board from 2003 to 2006. She is the senior vice president for commercial lending at Lawson Bank and was director of the Clay County Development Commission from 1998 to 2005. Wasson-Hunt is the founding member of the Police Foundation of Kansas City and is a trustee for the Kansas City Police Employees Retirement System.

Lisa Pelofsky
Member

Lisa Pelofsky was appointed to the Board by Gov. Nixon in 2010. She is CEO of Pelofsky and Associates, which provides development consultation to local and national non-profit organizations. Pelofsky serves on the Jackson County Domestic Violence Board and the Greater Kansas City Sports Commission and Foundation.

Sly James
Mayor

Sly James was elected mayor of Kansas City in 2011. He previously worked as an attorney at his own small business, the Sly James Firm. He has served as a member of civic boards including those for the Economic Development Corporation of Kansas City, the Land Clearance for Redevelopment Authority, Enhanced Enterprise Zones of Kansas City and Jackson County Ethics Commission.

David Kenner
Secretary Attorney

David Kenner was selected by the Board to serve as their secretary-at-law in 2010. Kenner is an attorney/shareholder at the law firm Levy and Craig. He is a member of the American and Kansas City Metropolitan bar associations and Missouri Bankers Association. He has served as director and past president for the Commercial Brokers Association and Committee for County Progress.

CHIEF CORWIN RETIRES

/CHANGE IN COMMAND

Police Chief retires

Chief James D. Corwin retired on Sept. 16 after 32 years of service, seven of them as chief. Hundreds of people came to his retirement ceremony at the Kansas City Regional Police Academy, and the Board of Police Commissioners passed a resolution naming the Academy's auditorium after him.

Chief named for interim

Deputy Chief Cheryl Rose was appointed Chief of Police from Sept. 19 to Oct. 13.

New Police Chief appointed

The Board of Police Commissioners selected Deputy Chief Darryl Forté as the new Chief of Police from among five finalists after an extensive national search. Forté was sworn in on Oct. 13. He is the department's first African-American chief.

/ CHIEF'S OFFICE

“We have a shared responsibility - both police and community members - for resolving problems.”

/ CHIEF HOLDS COMMUNITY FORUMS

Meeting with our community

More than 350 people came to the community forum Nov. 19th in Midtown to meet with various Kansas City Police Department elements, ask questions and voice concerns. The event was structured so community members could speak one-on-one with commanders and officers as well as Chief Forté.

Representatives of multiple KCPD units were at tables to speak with the public. Some of those units included Homicide, Narcotics and Vice Division, Human Resources Recruiters, and each patrol division station. Residents asked questions and shared their concerns about public safety and quality-of-life-related issues.

Chief Forté also asked community members who had specific public safety problems they wanted to see addressed to sign a “Community Partnership Agreement” with the KCPD. This contract outlined the mutually agreed upon action steps to be taken by police and residents to address the issue.

“It says we have a shared responsibility and individual accountability – both police and community members – for resolving problems,” Chief Forté said.

This was the first of several community forums Chief Forté hopes to conduct.

/ EXECUTIVE SERVICES BUREAU

/ NEW TECHNOLOGY

Newly renovated 911 call center opens

In the 16 years since KCPD last upgraded its 911 Call Center and radio system, 252 million more Americans got cell phones and internet use jumped from 1 out of 5 Americans to 4 out of 5, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

In other words, a technological upgrade was needed. After 11 months of renovations, the 911 Call Center came into the 21st Century with a grand re-opening on Oct. 27. The upgrades were to accommodate the new city-wide radio system, which went live Nov. 9.

Their newly remodeled center was a welcome change. Because call-takers and dispatchers have to stay at their stations for such extended periods of time, Assistant Manager Jeanie Rast said they gave a lot of attention to features that would increase staff comfort. The consoles now raise and lower at the touch of a button, so dispatchers can stand and work if they choose. Each spacious console also has custom-made new chairs and heat panels in case staff get cold. The center also has a new video system that allowed dispatchers to see live feed through KC SCOUT Traffic Cameras, security cameras set up throughout the city, weather reports, news broadcasts and more so they could better support officers in the field. The remodel was funded by the Public Safety Sales Tax approved by voters in 2002.

Communications Unit Manager Steve Hoskins said the best upgrade was the ability to communicate more readily with other law enforcement.

With the old system, police could not easily communicate with neighboring law enforcement agencies. KCPD's dispatchers had to call other agencies' dispatchers and have them relay that information to their officers on their own radio system.

"We will have inter-operability with our sister agencies," Hoskins said. "Now we have the availability to work an incident together anywhere from western Johnson County to eastern Independence with the shared resources we'll have available."

To celebrate the new 911 Call Center and demonstrate KCPD's call volume, police tweeted every call that officers were dispatched to between 11 a.m. and noon Oct. 27 on the police department's Twitter account, @kcpolice.

"Now we have the availability to work an incident together...with the shared resources we'll have available."

"The Fleet Operations Unit's Body Shop Section volunteered their time to turn a decommissioned patrol car into the department's new show vehicle. They used donated paint, and an airbrush artist donated his talents for some of the art. The car is taken to community events and festivals to build rapport with residents."

Deputy Chief Jerry Gallagher

The Executive Services Bureau is responsible for administering the department's financial processes, capital projects, supporting elements as well as managing and maintaining the department's facilities.

E-ticketing is estimated to save taxpayers $1 million each year.

/ ELECTRONIC TICKETING

Eliminating the need for paper tickets

Kansas City became the first major municipality in the nation in which the city's criminal justice system is paperless from the time an officer gives a ticket to the time the case reaches its final disposition in court.

This system went live August 29 in conjunction with Municipal Court. City officials estimated it would save $1 million each year. The changeover involves KCPD and the Court becoming part of REJIS (Regional Justice Information Service).

"Today marks a huge technological step forward for the Kansas City Missouri Police Department, Municipal Court and citizens," Deputy Chief Cheryl Rose said at the Aug. 29 ceremony launching the system.

Police issued their first e-ticket on July 26. Electronic ticketing eliminated triplicate paper citations with carbon paper and replaced them with hand-held devices that immediately and electronically transfer all the violation information to Municipal Court.

Violators got a receipt-like ticket and could pay their fine online in as little as 24 hours. Deputy Chief Rose said officers have been able to issue e-tickets in as little as two minutes. Police write 320,000 tickets annually that go to Municipal Court.

"No longer will someone at Municipal Court struggle to read an officer's hand-writing, and no more hand-carrying stacks of tickets," Deputy Chief Rose said at the launch ceremony.

The handheld devices officers use for e-ticketing also scan barcodes on the back of violator's driver's licenses and automatically enter all of that person's identifying information, so the officer doesn't have to type it in.

The e-ticketing project was completed within one year and on budget, Major Diane Mozzicato said. The KCPD project team – including Mozzicato, Captain Greg Volker, Sergeant Joy Colmar, and Officers Mike Grigsby and Angeleic Huth – trained nearly 1,500 department members how to use the technology.

Deputy Chief Kevin Masters

The Administration Bureau provides administrative support to the entire Department through information technology, record-keeping and human resources functions.

/ MAKING HEADLINES

International attention on missing baby

The disappearance of a 10-month-old baby from a Northland home on Oct. 2 brought international attention to the Kansas City Missouri Police Department. The parents of Lisa Irwin told police someone broke into their home and abducted the infant while she was sleeping. Despite extensive investigation and searching, the baby was not located.

Waldo rapist charged

Twenty-two charges were filed Feb. 16 in the rapes that occurred in the Waldo neighborhood from fall 2009 to early 2010. Detectives, crime lab personnel and prosecutors worked months to build a strong case against 53-year-old Bernard Jackson. He also was charged with multiple sexual assaults in the same area in the early 1980s and had been in custody since May 2010.

Kansas City Police devoted more than 10,000 hours to the case. They investigated 955 tips and wrote more than 1,000 reports that totaled 10,000 pages. The Sex Crimes Section, Crime Lab, Narcotics and Vice Division, Perpetrator Information Center, patrol officers and countless others came together to find the suspect and quell the fear that had overtaken the community.

Deputy Chief Randall Hundley

The Investigations Bureau is responsible for the investigation of crime and narcotics enforcement. It also oversees the Kansas City Regional Crime Laboratory.

The TIPS Hotline received 732 tips about the Lisa Irwin disappearance in 2011.

/ PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT & RESEARCH BUREAU

“The average graduate of the Police Athletic League/Upper Room Inc. Academic Summer Camp improved his or her reading skills by two grade levels.”

Deputy Chief Patty Higgins

The Professional Research and Development Bureau is responsible for departmental and regional recruit training and continuing education, research and analysis of emerging trends in policing and policy development, and the mentoring of youth through organized sports activities and educational programs.

/ TEACHING AND GROWING

Police Athletic League, Upper Room Inc. reach kids with Academic Summer Camp

The Police Athletic League celebrated the academic success of more than 100 inner-city children through their new partnership with the Upper Room program at a graduation ceremony August 5. Students going into first through eighth grades were honored for their intensive work to raise their reading levels over the summer.

This was the first year PAL has partnered with the Upper Room, whose eight-week Summer Academic Camp meets at 26 other locations throughout urban Kansas City.

“We wanted them here for the kids in the PAL community,” said Sergeant Martin Cobbinah, a supervisor of KCPD’s PAL program.

A total of 107 children registered for the program at the PAL Center. The students spent 10 hours in the camp each weekday, first working with certified teachers and volunteer tutors on reading and some math. After a provided lunch, children engaged in a variety of fun and cultural activities. Most children in the Upper Room Summer Academic Camp increased their reading skills by one to two grade levels, Sergeant Cobbinah said.

The program was funded by the Upper Room, which is a non-profit organization providing high-quality out-of-school education programs to low-income families in the urban areas of Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan.

Academy prepares grads for foot patrol

The Kansas City Regional Police Academy prepared the graduates of Entrant Officer Class 143 for a different kind of assignment after their break-in period: foot patrol.

The probationary officers started the Foot Patrol Project in the beginning of August and were assigned in pairs for 90 days to patrol two areas in Central Patrol Division and two in East Patrol Division – the divisions in which 87 percent of Kansas City’s crime takes place. The program is based on one developed by the Philadelphia, Pa., Police Department, which reduced crime in targeted areas there by 23 percent.

Kansas City’s probationary officers got to meet two Philadelphia officers and a Philadelphia deputy police commissioner to discuss the program with them. One officer told them the project made him a better cop. The Philadelphia officers also told KCPD’s new officers they should prepare to walk six to seven miles a day and go through several pairs of shoes.

“Say ‘hi’ to everyone,” Philadelphia Officer Timothy Hegarty advised. “It costs nothing.”

The University of Missouri-Kansas City studied what happened to crime in the foot patrol areas and how the project will affect the new officers later in their careers.

/ PROTECTING THE STREETS

Officers deployed to the streets of Joplin

More than 100 KCPD officers and civilian employees deployed to Joplin, Mo., over the course of three weeks to provide mutual aid after the city was devastated by a tornado May 22.

The EF-5 twister killed more than 160 people in Joplin, which is 150 miles south of Kansas City. In addition to providing security and police services, KCPD helped protect President Barack Obama when he visited Joplin to survey the damage.

DUI bus

The Kansas City Missouri Police Department unveiled the new Mobile DUI Enforcement Center (MDEC) at a news conference March 15. The vehicle was funded by a grant from the Missouri Department of Transportation and rolled out just before a statewide crackdown on drunk driving during the St. Patrick's Day holiday.

Kansas City, Mo., significantly led the state in alcohol-involved crashes, alcohol-involved fatal crashes and alcohol-involved serious injury crashes. The $395,000 Mobile DUI Enforcement Center allowed police to combat drunk drivers at sobriety checkpoints and other impaired driving enforcement operations. Officers will be able to process up to five impaired drivers at once and administer breath alcohol tests.

The MDEC replaced a 24-year-old recreational vehicle KCPD had been using as a command post at sobriety checkpoints.

"Knowing that funding for this type of vehicle only comes along once in a generation, the MDEC was built with longevity in mind," said Sergeant Ron Podraza, supervisor of the DUI Section. "The MDEC will serve our citizens for many years to come, combating the scourge of impaired drivers".

Police also took the MDEC to community events for the public to tour.

Deputy Chief Cheryl Rose

The Patrol Bureau is the largest bureau in the department and is responsible for responding to 911 calls for service, taking reports from victims of crime, providing tactical support, enforcing traffic laws, and investigating property crimes.

"The Mobile DUI Enforcement Center will serve our citizens for many years to come, combating the scourge of impaired drivers."

Detective Donie Spaeth participated in the Special Olympics Polar Plunge as the first KCPD Super Plunger, jumping into a frozen lake 24 times in about 20 hours, raising $3,085.

Bernard Jackson (Waldo Rapist) was charged with 22 felonies in connection with five rapes in the Waldo neighborhood from 2009-2010. He previously had been charged in other cold case rapes from 1983 and 1984. More than 150 department members worked on the investigation.

The Homicide Unit was reorganized to form four homicide squads, each containing 6 detectives and 1 sergeant. The Murder Squad rotation also was reduced to a 2-week rotation from a 4-week rotation. The Homicide Unit Cold Case Squad was reduced and combined with detectives from the Sex Crimes Cold Case Squad to form the new Violent Crimes Division Cold Case Squad.

The Board of Police Commissioners voted to extend mandatory law enforcement retirement from 30 to 32 years of service, revising a policy first instituted in 1956.

More than 100 KCPD officers and civilian employees deployed to Joplin, Mo., over the course of three weeks to provide mutual aid after the city was devastated by a tornado May 22.

The Cold Case Squad solved the 40-year-old murder of civil rights activist Leon Jordan, killed in 1970. All the suspects were deceased, and the prosecutor's office declared the case closed. In the course of their investigation, the detectives solved another murder that occurred in 1969 and gave closure to that family.

The International Association of Chiefs of Police recognized KCPD's use of social media by featuring them as a case study for other departments to model after. IACP lauded the department's use of different social media platforms for different purposes.

90-day Foot Patrol project put the recent 17 graduates of the Police Academy on foot in four areas of town hit hardest by crime. UMKC studied the project to see how it affected officer skills and crime rates.

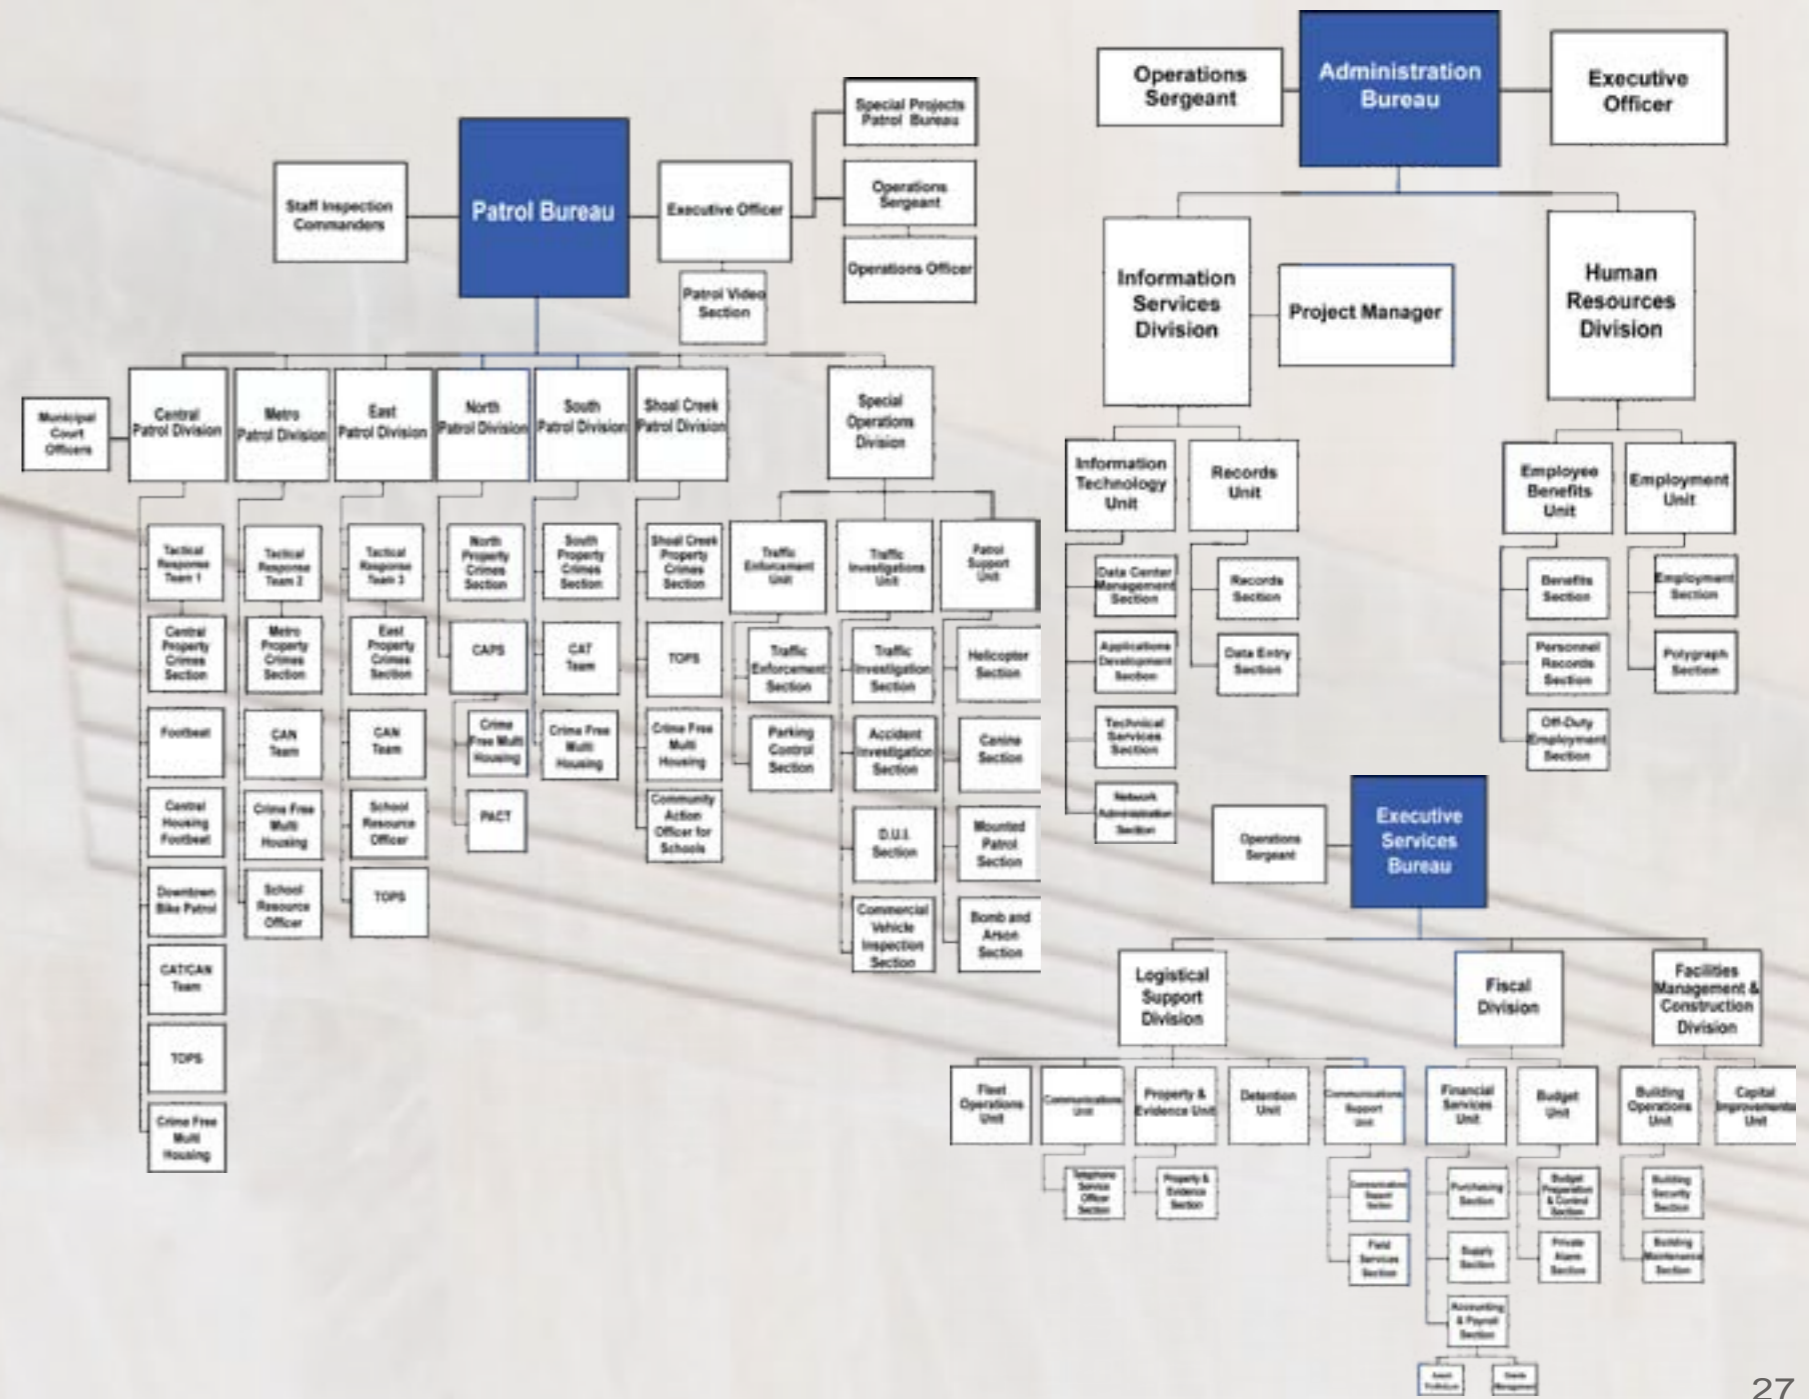

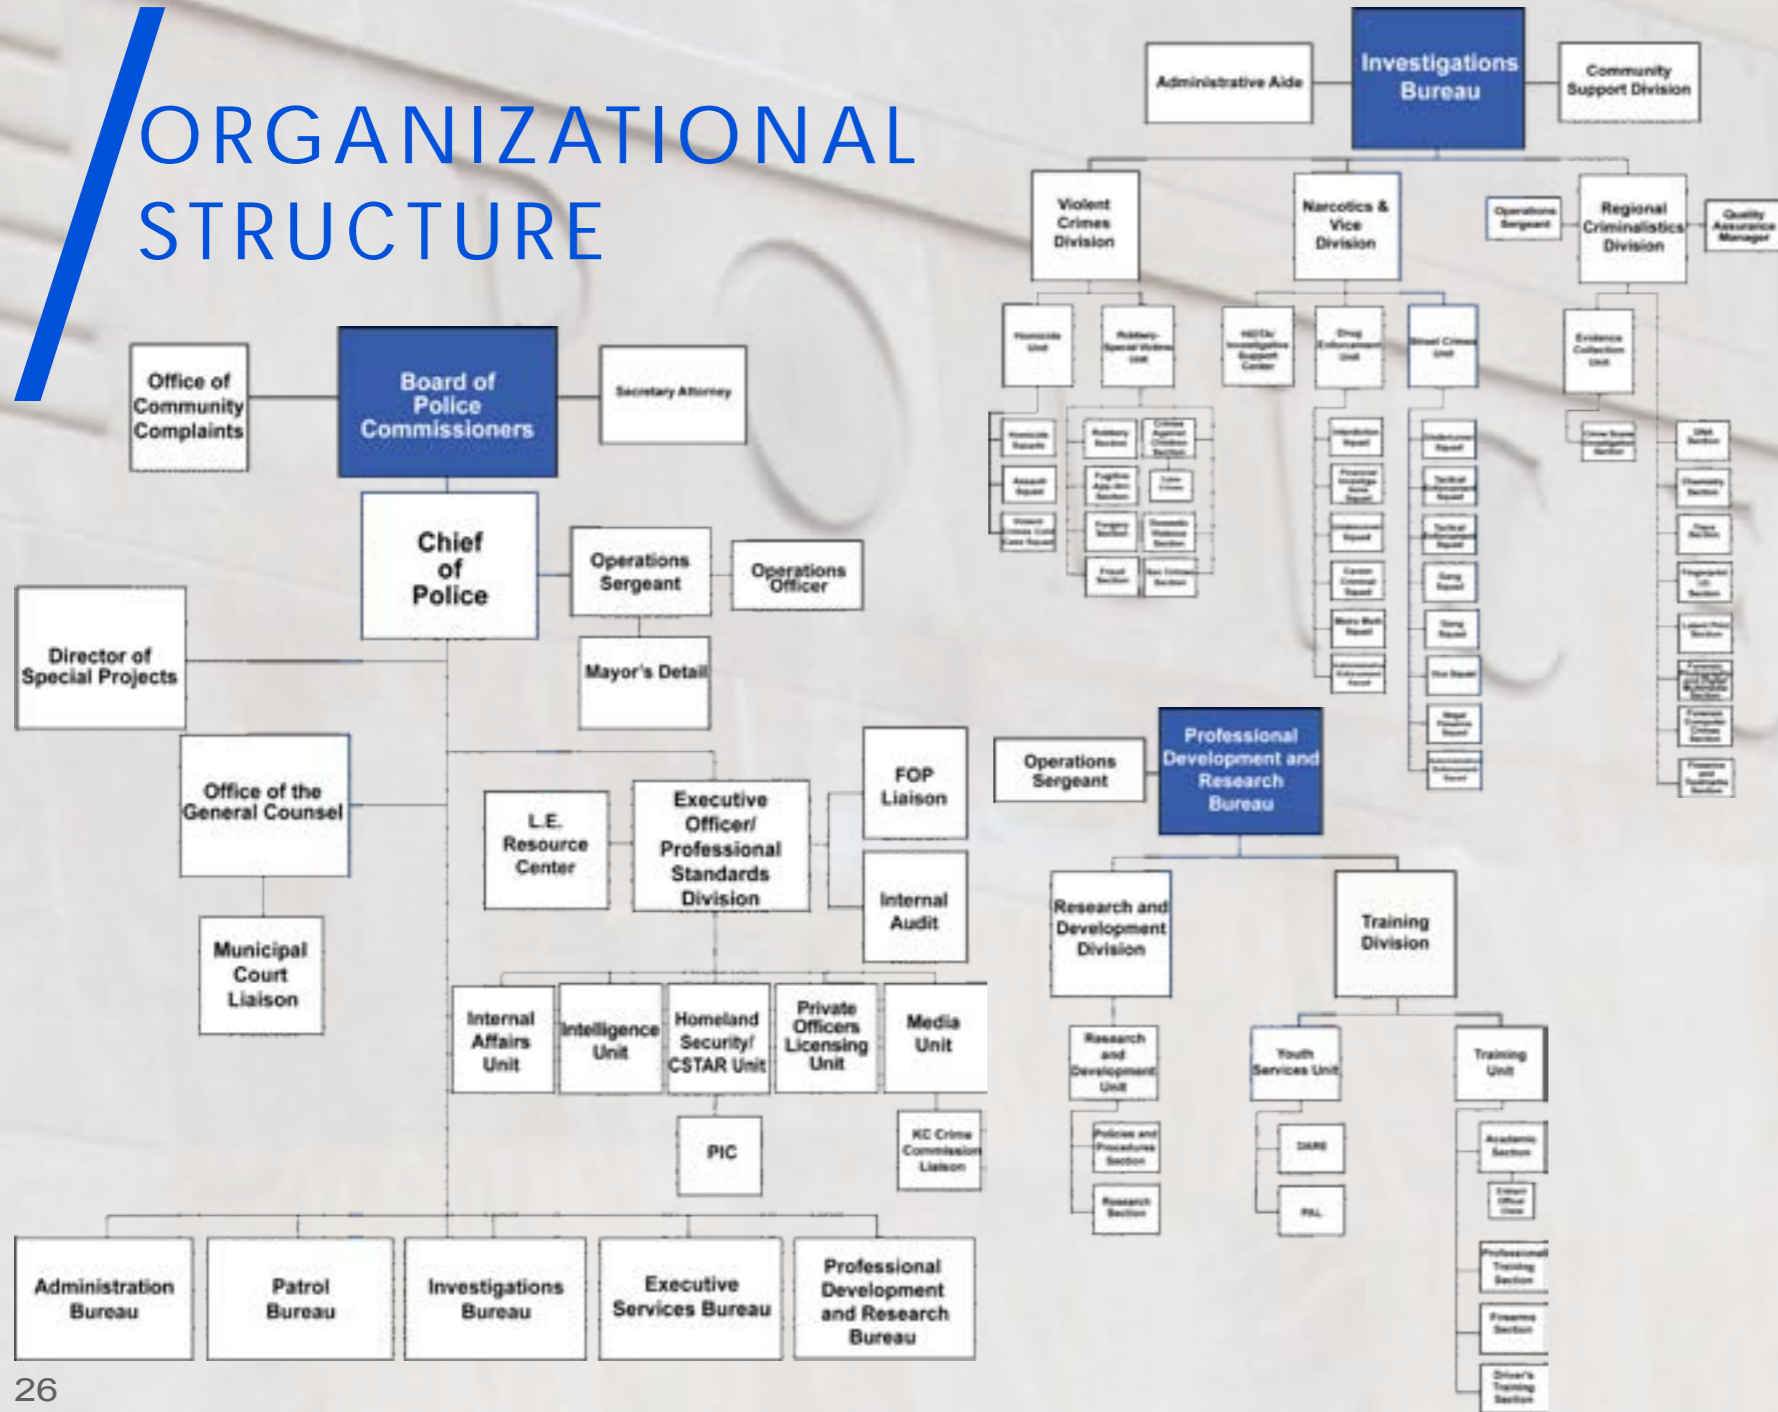

Chief James Corwin retired after 32 years of service, 7 of them as chief. Cheryl Rose was named Interim Chief of Police.

The BOPC chose Deputy Chief Darryl Forté as the new Chief of Police. He is the city's first African-American police chief.

Chief Forté hosted the first quarterly community forum for residents to ask officers and commanders questions and voice their concerns. More than 350 people attended the event.

Officers in Shoal Creek and North Patrol divisions conducted Operation Safe Holiday, warning residents not to leave their cars running unattended, passing out crime prevention tips at shopping centers and conducting warrant sweeps of property crime suspects.

¹ In addition to the 109 murders, the city also recorded five homicides as justifiable, to total 114 homicides.

² Beginning in 2008, Part II clearance rates – with the exception of non-aggravated assault – were not submitted to the state of Missouri and therefore are not included in this report.

* The Offenses by Division statistics are calculated using National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS) statistics, while the Total Offenses statistics are calculated using Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) statistics. The FBI states the following about the difference: "The NIBRS has much more detail in its reporting system than the traditional Summary reporting system. ... In the Summary reporting system, the "Hierarchy Rule" governs multiple offense reporting. If more than one crime was committed by the same person or group of persons and the time and space intervals separating the crimes were insignificant, then the crime highest in the hierarchy is the only offense reported. However, in the NIBRS, if more than one crime was committed by the same person or group of persons and the time and space intervals were insignificant, all of the crimes are reported as offenses within the same incident. For more information about the similarities and differences of NIBRS and UCR, go to www.fbi.gov/about-us/cjis/ucr/frequently-asked-questions/nibrs_faqs.
