MISSION and VISION STATEMENT

The mission of the Kansas City Missouri Police Department is to protect and serve with professionalism, honor, and integrity.

The vision of the KCPD is to make Kansas City and the metropolitan area the safest community in the nation as a result of the efforts of the Kansas City Missouri Police Department and its many partners.

A Message from the Chief

Board of Police Commissioners,

The year 2022 was somewhat unusual, having three Chiefs of Police leading the Kansas City Missouri Police Department. Though unique, the year once again displayed the tremendous service our officers and staff provided our community.

Chief Richard Smith retired. Interim Chief Joseph Mabin served admirably. And as you know, I became the first woman named permanent police chief in department history on Dec. 15, 2022.

Chief Mabin spent the most time as Chief in 2022, serving eight months while the search for a new chief took place. His guidance ensured that our department would meet its mission to protect and serve with professionalism, honor, and integrity. I appreciate his leadership and devotion to our department.

I am excited to be in my new role. It's an incredible opportunity to represent the men and women of KCPD who contribute selflessly to Kansas City. All of us will work together to safeguard our city and support those in need.

I look forward to working with you and sharing our many accomplishments.

Fire Rescue

East Patrol Captain Jennifer Jones saved a man's life the morning of January 20, pulling him to safety from a house fire.

Jones was parked near E. 25th Street and Prospect Avenue, running the heater so that children could stay warm while they waited for the school bus. When she spotted flames erupting from a nearby home, Jones rushed to the door looking for anyone inside.

A man was trying to escape and Jones rescued him. The man suffered minor burns.

“My family is forever grateful to Captain Jones for saving our family member. God put her where she needed to be, things could've have been worse and we could have been grieving instead of being joyous that we still have him with us. He's doing fine!” – commenter on Facebook

Caught in the Act

Responding to reports of numerous car break-ins around the Westport area, officers chased down and caught three suspects. In doing so, the officers also recovered multiple firearms.

Selflessness

KCPD showed its bravery in a different kind of way on Saturday, January 29, by Polar Plunging into frigid Smithville Lake for Special Olympics Missouri.

Ready to Serve

The 174th Entrant Officer Class began in February. This marked the beginning of a journey for 23 men and women who were dedicated to becoming KCPD's newest public servants.

For the next half year, they would train to serve and protect Kansas City. They learned the law, domestic violence resources, active shooter response, traffic enforcement, and any issue related to law enforcement. It's an amazing amount of knowledge these recruits dedicated themselves to mastering.

Officer Marc Canovi and Sergeant Jeff Cowdrey were part of a hostage negotiator team that defused a dangerous standoff with an armed murder suspect. The standoff lasted more than five hours, but ended peacefully thanks in large part to Canovi and Cowdrey's efforts.

CIT Officer of the Year

Officer J.D. Pettey received the 2022 Missouri CIT Officer of the Year award, honoring his efforts to help people with mental illness or substance abuse problems.

A Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) Officer at KCPD, Pettey trains officers statewide in intervention, de-escalation, and suicide prevention techniques. Pettey also teaches suicide prevention to officers in order to protect themselves and to recognize signs in others.

"My job is to connect people with services and not arrest," Pettey states. "Arrest if we have to, but arrest is our very last resort."

Helping Hand

Easter week, KCPD handed out 500 ham dinners to community members at East Patrol Division.

Hy-Vee donated the hams and Harvesters donated “meal kits,” boxes full of canned foods and sides. With volunteers, the organizations provided hundreds of Kansas City families holiday dinners. A line of vehicles wrapping around the block formed hours ahead of the event.

Job Well Done

Members of the Metro Property Crimes Section recovered an enormous amount of stolen goods after uncovering a storage unit scheme that spanned the Kansas City metro area.

The suspect would gain access to facilities by renting a storage unit, then he would break into other storage units, steal goods, and install a replacement lock back on the victim's unit to hide the break-in.

Detectives held a news conference inviting local media to capture and share images of the stolen goods in hopes their rightful owners would recognize them. Property recovered came from Kansas City, Lenexa, Olathe, Overland Park, Prairie Village, and other jurisdictions.

A Comeback Story

Officer Tyler Moss, who survived being shot in the head in July of 2020, served as the honoree for the Going The Distance For Brain Injury Run at Loose Park.

The run traditionally honored a person affected by a brain injury who exemplified courage and determination, qualities fully displayed by Moss.

Moss was shot near his right eye and was in a coma for more than two weeks, suffering from a fractured skull, pneumonia, and blood clots. At that time, doctors gave Moss a 10% chance to live and less than a 1% chance to be fully functional. He returned to KCPD after a long and grueling rehabilitation.

Women of KCPD

Signing on to the 30x30 Initiative, KCPD announced it would attempt to significantly increase its number of female officers by the end of the decade.

The nationwide initiative calls for 30% of a department's officers to be women by the year 2030. At the time of the announcement, nearly 15% of KCPD's officers were females, on par with the national average. Women, at the time, made up 15% of KCPD's command staff which was much higher than the national average of 3%.

“We hope to gain some insight into the challenges preventing women from joining the force and create policy to improve their experiences and help us improve how we recruit them,” said Deputy Chief Karen True, program manager for the 30 x 30 Pledge.

K-9 Protection

All 12 KCPD K-9s received new ballistic vests thanks to a donation by way of the Police Foundation of Kansas City.

The new vests were made of Kevlar, the same material used by officers. They also weighed as little as 2.5 pounds, depending on the dog. The old vests, which were nearly 20 years old, were much heavier and bulkier.

Sharing

Camp Fury brought the Girl Scouts to the police academy to learn from and train with remarkable women who are leaders within KCPD.

High schoolers in the camp worked alongside female law enforcement personnel and firefighters to learn policing, firefighting, and EMS skills.

Internships

The first summer internship program in department history came to a wrap with 10 college students learning the ins and outs of KCPD. The interns experienced the breadth of KCPD's offerings with police officers and professional staff.

One key exposure for students was the ability to talk directly with police officers, both on patrol and in specialized units.

Moss received the Purple Heart Award, as well as the Distinguished Service Medal, after surviving the shooting that nearly took his life. Other officers who played a part in saving Moss that day also received Distinguished Service Medals and Life-Saving Awards for their heroic actions.

Fostering

Officer Holly Gibbs, a 19-year KCPD veteran, spent her 7th year as a School Resource Officer at Central High School where she had the opportunity to help youth during influential years. Gibbs and her partner built trust and relationships with students that will span their high school careers and extend to families and the community.

“We build trust so that they feel comfortable confiding in us when there are issues at home or something going on at school. We mentor them and help them work through the emotions.”

Her time included unexpected stints as a basketball and volleyball coach until she began fostering children. One foster child was a student at Central. Today, she cares for three foster children, three-years-old and younger and still manages to stay involved in and out of the classroom.

“It’s a priceless job. You get an opportunity to be a part of a kid’s life and try to create positive and healthy relationships.”

KC Chiefs

When the Kansas City Chiefs kicked off their eventual Super Bowl season, our officers were there to ensure the safety of the more than 76,000 fans who attended each home game.

Both visible and behind-the-scenes, officers executed a well-orchestrated game plan on game days at Arrowhead. They were ready hours before kick-off and stayed hours after the final whistle.

From patrol officers, to the K-9 Section, Traffic Unit, and others, our team effort delivered a winning performance.

Solved

Deoina Mitchell's mom, Gwendolyn Robinson disappeared in 1983. But it was the summer of 2022 when Mitchell filed a missing person report because she needed answers.

Working 12-hour days on a case older than him, Detective Nathan Kinate requested assistance from Intelligence Analyst Darin Lee. The two continued a relentless investigation to find the truth.

Mitchell provided a picture of Robinson that registered with Lee. He remembered a composite he received in 2017 by a Clay County Sheriff's detective working a 1985 cold case. Given the time frame and similarities, Lee sensed a match. Kinate explained that Williams and the composite shared distinct eyes and the same unique jawline.

Kinate and the Sheriff's Office ran DNA tests that resulted in a match. It took Kinate and Lee less than 30 days to find Mitchell's mother.

The Thunderbirds selected King to honor her heroics when she arrested a murder suspect while off-duty in October of 2021.

Hispanic Heritage

Aspiring to strengthen community relations, KCPD conducted its first Citizen's Police Academy geared towards members of the Hispanic community.

Officer Edwin Gordillo spearheaded the effort which allowed KCPD to share its services in Spanish and listen to residents' concerns and issues. A great turnout debuted at the event which took place at St. Anthony's Church.

Acknowledgment

KCPD received the Leadership in Law Enforcement Research Award from the International Association of Chiefs of Police for its Risk-Based Policing (RBP) strategy.

The award recognizes an agency demonstrating excellence in conducting and using research to improve police operations & public safety. The newer approach of RBP, implemented citywide in 2019, helps reverse policing's tendency to over-rely on enforcement and instead seeks a balance between prevention and response.

Accepting for KCPD are Interim Chief Joseph Mabin (Rt) and Captain Jonas Baughman (middle).

Donation Made with Love

Officers at Central Patrol and East Patrol received handmade dolls that they could give to children in crisis when responding to calls.

The dolls came with messages of love, donated to KCPD by St. Augustine's Episcopal Church on Benton Blvd. Church members held a doll-making workshop and distributed more than six dozen dolls to KCPD.

Electric Wheels

KCPD became the new owner of an electronic bicycle (e-bike) courtesy of a local business owner who wanted to help officers strengthen community bonds.

Pedego Kansas City gifted one of two e-bikes that KCPD's Downtown Bike Patrol had been testing for six months. Owner Dan Cain hoped the bicycles would help officers on many levels, including responding to calls and increased interactions.

Testing showed that the bicycles helped make officers more approachable, serving as conversation starters. Often, residents had a curiosity about the bicycles and their questions initiated talks with officers.

The e-bikes also allowed officers to travel greater distances and respond to more calls than riding the mountain bicycles in KCPD's fleet. Given the 10-12 year age of the current fleet, KCPD will look for grants and other funding sources to purchase more e-bikes in the future.

King received the Bronze Award for Valor, honoring her for her arrest of a murder suspect while off-duty. King was working at an area high school when she came across a woman who had been on a day-long violent crime spree. King pursued the suspect on foot, was injured, but still arrested the suspect.

Graduation

Fifteen new officers graduated from the Regional Police Academy and joined KCPD.

They were members of the 175th Entrant Officer Class. The youngest officer was 21, and the oldest was 36. Graduation took place before a large crowd of family and friends.

Upon graduating, these officers began assignments at different patrol stations around the city.

Life-Saving

Officer Richard DuChaine and Officer Charles Owen rescued an infant's life that was caught on bodycam video.

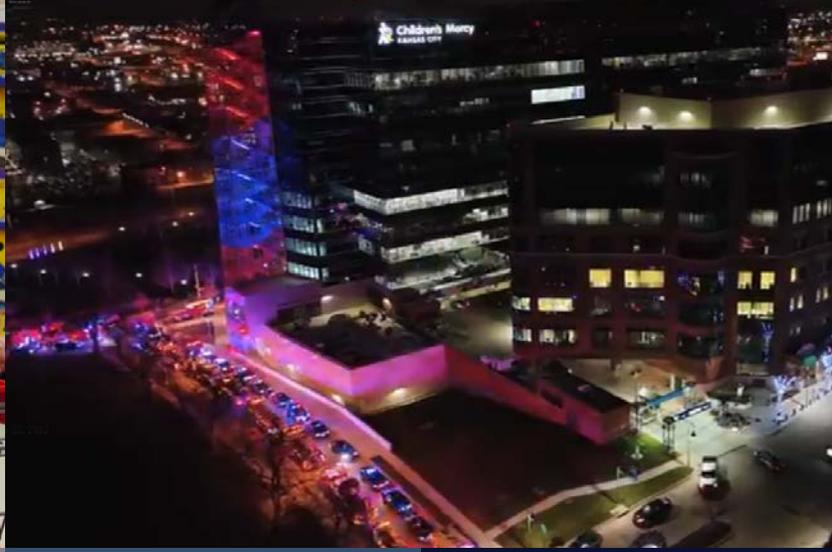

The partners responded to a call for a 1-month-old girl who wasn't breathing. Arriving before EMS, they sprinted into the house, where the father handed the baby over to DuChaine.

DuChaine began infant chest compressions followed by back thrusts. Thankfully, the baby started breathing again. DuChaine turned the baby on her side, and Officer Owen checked for obstructions. Later, the officers visited her in the hospital. Doctors would say the infant was suffering from RSV.

When two officers saved the life of a 1-month-old girl who wasn't breathing, it was Dispatcher Denise Jones who dispatched them.

"I put myself in the parents' shoes, and what if that was me?" Jones asked. "What kind of response would you like? What kind of help would you want? You handle every call knowing that."
